

*Knowing God
in Our Failures*

*Knowing God
in Our Failures*

If I were to talk to my younger self, what would I tell her? I would tell her that God will meet her in her failures, in the midst of her guilt and shame. When she falls, He will lift her up. There is no condemnation for those in Christ Jesus.

I would tell her that she is forgiven, that she can stand tall in the grace of God among others in the lineage of grace.

I would tell her where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. I would tell her that He will weave the black threads of her life in such a way that it won't bring her shame but will enhance His glory.

If I were to talk to my younger self, what would I tell her? I would tell her that God will meet her in her failures, in the midst of her guilt and shame. When she falls, He will lift her up. There is no condemnation for those in Christ Jesus.

I would tell her that she is forgiven, that she can stand tall in the grace of God among others in the lineage of grace.

I would tell her where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. I would tell her that He will weave the black threads of her life in such a way that it won't bring her shame but will enhance His glory.

If I were to talk to my younger self, what would I tell her? I would tell her that God will meet her in her failures, in the midst of her guilt and shame. When she falls, He will lift her up. There is no condemnation for those in Christ Jesus.

I would tell her that she is forgiven, that she can stand tall in the grace of God among others in the lineage of grace.

I would tell her where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. I would tell her that He will weave the black threads of her life in such a way that it won't bring her shame but will enhance His glory.

If I were to talk to my younger self, what would I tell her? I would tell her that God will meet her in her failures, in the midst of her guilt and shame. When she falls, He will lift her up. There is no condemnation for those in Christ Jesus.

I would tell her that she is forgiven, that she can stand tall in the grace of God among others in the lineage of grace.

I would tell her where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. I would tell her that He will weave the black threads of her life in such a way that it won't bring her shame but will enhance His glory.

If I were to talk to my younger self, what would I tell her? I would tell her that God will meet her in her failures, in the midst of her guilt and shame. When she falls, He will lift her up. There is no condemnation for those in Christ Jesus.

I would tell her that she is forgiven, that she can stand tall in the grace of God among others in the lineage of grace.

I would tell her where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. I would tell her that He will weave the black threads of her life in such a way that it won't bring her shame but will enhance His glory.

If I were to talk to my younger self, what would I tell her? I would tell her that God will meet her in her failures, in the midst of her guilt and shame. When she falls, He will lift her up. There is no condemnation for those in Christ Jesus.

I would tell her that she is forgiven, that she can stand tall in the grace of God among others in the lineage of grace.

I would tell her where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. I would tell her that He will weave the black threads of her life in such a way that it won't bring her shame but will enhance His glory.

If I were to talk to my younger self, what would I tell her? I would tell her that God will meet her in her failures, in the midst of her guilt and shame. When she falls, He will lift her up. There is no condemnation for those in Christ Jesus.

I would tell her that she is forgiven, that she can stand tall in the grace of God among others in the lineage of grace.

I would tell her where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. I would tell her that He will weave the black threads of her life in such a way that it won't bring her shame but will enhance His glory.

